HOW EDUCATION MAKES PEOPLE HEALTHIER

- 415 million people globally have diabetes, if nothing is done, it is estimated that this number will rise to 642 million by 2040.
- 1 in 5 healthcare professionals do not receive any postgraduate training in diabetes.
- Less than 1 in 2 people with diabetes and 1 in 4 family members of people with diabetes have access to diabetes education programmes.

At IDF we recognise the value of providing education for health professionals and resources for people with diabetes and caregivers:

NOTHING BEATS FACE-TO-FACE

*“The important thing is not to stop questioning.
Curiosity has its own reason for existing.”*

Albert Einstein

We invite you to experience the IDF 2017 Congress, gathering thousands of healthcare professionals, to learn through exchange and knowledge-sharing.

The IDF 2017 Congress applied for accreditation through the European Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (EACCME) and the Faculty of Medicine & Health Sciences, UAE University and is expected to be accredited with between 20 and 22 hours of CME credits.

IDF CONGRESS LIBRARY

The IDF Congress Library provides access to thousands of abstracts, posters and webcasts from previous congresses. You will be able to view the programmes, featuring presentation slides and speakers, abstract and posters on all aspects of diabetes.
